

LAST CALL

This afternoon and evening are the last meetings of the Board of Registrars—be sure that you are on the check-list that you may be able to cast your vote at the coming election. First visit the polling place in your ward and see if your name is on the printed list. The lists are posted as follows: Ward 1, ward room on Maplewood Avenue and Boston & Maine Depot; ward 2, county court house on State street, and Rand's store; ward 3, ward room on Bartlett street, and store of John Leary; ward 4, ward room on Meeting House Hill and store of Simon Harmon; ward 5, City Hall and building near Liberty Bridge on Water street. It is your duty as an American citizen to participate in the business of electing the officials to govern. Don't have an excuse on election day to be rushing around in search of a certificate to entitle you to cast your ballot. Citizenship means first a thorough knowledge of that government that you are a part of and your duty to assist in installing it.

DEMOCRATS HOLD BIG RALLY WITH LARGE ATTENDANCE

Hon. Thomas R. Marshall of Indiana, Former Vice President, is the Chief Speaker—Gov. Brown and Congressman Rogers Among Other Speakers

The first political rally of the campaign in this city was held on Tuesday evening by the Democrats and the Portsmouth Theatre was filled with an attentive audience.

The principal speaker of the evening, who spoke last, was former Vice President Thomas R. Marshall, of Indiana and he was well worth waiting to hear for his talk was enlightening and at times drifted away from politics to subjects which were food for thought for everybody. He is a wonderfully entertaining talker and his well-timed humor was brought into

Mr. Marshall followed Gov. Fred H. Brown, both of whom had previously spoken. After paying a tribute to the state he said that the country needed now was some of the homely virtues of the old New England stock for in the old days, in his state as here, the young man looked forward to the day when he would own a piece of land and a home, while today they look forward to a flat and a river. It was this old virtue of New England, he said, that laid the foundation of America, and New England gave to the country its old-fashioned leaders who were a credit to New England and the country.

Referring to the LaFollette movement he said that it was overdrawn. He said, "LaFollette is not a menace. He is just a nuisance. I stood him for eight years, heard him talk by the hour, day, month and year and I never heard him say anything yet. The Republicans are holding up the idea that LaFollette wants to make Congress supreme. He does not want to do that. He wants to make LaFollette supreme. LaFollette would appeal to the mob, Mr. Marshall said, and that was bad. The worst possible decision of a court is far better than a decision that could be rendered by a mob of unthinking, ignorant men, he

GREAT BRITAIN IS HOLDING ELECTION TODAY

New Parliament Being Chosen to Succeed One Dissolved on Oct. 9

(By Associated Press)

London, Oct. 29—Great Britain's voters went to the polls today to choose a new parliament to replace that dissolved at the instance of the Laborites Prime Minister, Ramsay MacDonald on October 9, following an unfavorable vote in the Commons. While some of the Laborites still expressed confidence that the result would show the people favorable to their remaining in power, the general opinion was that the government would be repudiated.

The respective strength of the parties is something on which no political official would venture to give a prophecy. Only the returns will tell whether the Communists have been able to regain the majority.

Over all the other parties necessary to put them back into office and bring to an end the arrangements whereby they and the Laborites have recently allowed the Laborites to run the government. Up to a few days ago public interest in the outcome seemed apathetic but sensational eleventh hour publication of the alleged Zinoviev letter urging British Communists to intensive propaganda, and organization of units of the British army and navy served to fan the sentiment against the Laborites because of their reputed leniency against Communists.

WOMAN KILLED IN AUTO CRASH

Four Others Hurt in Accident Near Worcester, Mass.

Worcester, Mass., Oct. 29—Mrs. Katie Pearlstein, 40, of New York, was killed instantly and Benjamin Cohen of Boston, her brother, Hyman Cohen of Roxbury, Louis Taylor of Dorchester and Nathan Berman of Mattapan were injured late yesterday afternoon when the automobile in which they were riding from New York to Boston skidded and turned turtle as it rounded Colliers Corner in Cherry Valley, Leicester.

Mrs. Pearlstein was caught under the wreckage and the left side of her head was crushed.

Hyman Cohen suffered a fracture of the left elbow, Benjamin Cohen and Taylor and Berman suffered slight injuries about the head and hands as they were thrown clear of the wreck and landed in the roadway.

Two ambulances were summoned from Worcester and took the victims to the city hospital, where the men's injuries were treated. All but Hyman Cohen later were discharged and were able to return to their homes.

Benjamin Cohen was driving the car, with his sister sitting beside him, and the three other men occupied the rear seat.

As the car rounded what is known as Dead Man's Curve, another car approached it from the opposite direction and Cohen turned out to let it pass. As he did so, the wheels of his machine struck the trolley track and, after skidding several yards, turned over.

BANDITS STEAL $10,000 IN GEMS

Hartford, Conn., Oct. 29—Two well-dressed men held up Philip E. Rosen, wholesale jeweler of Trumbull street last night, bound and gagged him, and looted the place of $10,000 worth of unset diamonds and jewelry, according to his story to the police.

According to Rosen, one of the men had been in the store several times. Last night the man asked Rosen to step into his office, intimating, according to Rosen that he had something to say in private. A moment later Rosen said that the man placed a pistol to his head and forced him to be quiet while he was bound.

The articles said to have been stolen include a bag of unset diamonds valued at about $7000, and gold and platinum watches and gold and platinum settings.

NIGHT RIDERS DYNAMITE BARN

(By Associated Press)
Glasgow, Ky., Oct. 29—Nocturnal raiders attacked the homes of three Barren county tobacco growers, firing several shots into the houses and dynamiting a tobacco barn belonging to one of the men whose house was attacked. Some 200 shots were fired into the home of Parlin Clark. A tobacco barn owned by Jesse Greshaw, a negro, was dynamited and his home attacked. Clark said the raiders, numbering between 15 and 20, appeared shortly after 1 a. m. and began firing without warning. The raid marks the latest outbreak of a number of demonstrations that have occurred in this vicinity over the tobacco situation.

THIRTY LIQUOR CASES FOR THE GRAND JURY

United States Court Opens
Oct. Session at Concord

The October term of the United States court opened at Concord on Tuesday with Judge James A. Lowell of Boston presiding. Thirty-two cases were presented to the grand jury, 30 of which were for violation of the liquor laws, two were for violation of postal and revenue laws.

Dan A. Hall of Rochester is charged with sending obscene matter through the mails while Samuel D. Snow of North Conway is charged with violating the laws governing the sale of narcotics.

The grand jury is made up of the following: Frank W. Baldwin, Pittsburg; Ensign M. Barrett, Gorham; Daniel M. Brennan, Wilton; Ernest G. Cole, Hampton; John F. Crehan, Franklin; J. F. Donahue, Bartlett; Marshal W. Field, Woodsville; Everett O. Foss, Epsom; Harris Gray, Colerain; Frank M. Hancock, Milan; Edward J. Heath, Concord; Robert W. Jamieson, Antrim; Chester L. Lane, Swanzey; Walter S. Libben, Wentworth; Darwin Lombard, Colebrook; Romeo E. Patachoud, Lebanon; Harry E. Poor, Landaff; James L. Prince, Groveton; Joseph R. Rowe, Brentwood; Jenness Smith, Epping; Cleveland West, Erol; Harvey Woodward, Wilnot Flat.

Following the presentation to the Grand Jury the case of Gray vs. The Railroad was before the court. The action has grown out of an accident occurring while the railroads were under government control during the war period and the action is brought by Lea M. Gray, administratrix of the estate of Glen E. Gray against James C. Davis, director-general of railroads. The accident happened on the Maine Central.

BLAME MORSES IN SEA TRAGEDY

New York, Oct. 29.—A verdict for $26,000 damages Monday was awarded Mrs. Adelaide C. Nelson of Philadelphia for the death of her son, Lawrence, 20, a member of the crew of the steamship Frederick, which sank in mid-Atlantic in January, 1916, while enroute from this port to Archangel with a cargo of war munitions.

The federal district court jury which returned the verdict held that the Frederick's owners, Charles W. Morse, his son, Benjamin W., and Capt. Mark L. Gilbert, had been guilty of conspiracy in sending the vessel to sea with the knowledge that she was unseaworthy. The 30 members of the crew all were lost. Attorneys for the Morses said they would appeal the verdict to the United States circuit court of appeals.

The Frederick, witnesses testified, was considered so unseaworthy by engineers who had brought her here from Baltimore that they later refused to put to sea in her. She had been an Atlantic coasting freighter for 47 years, they testified, and never before had attempted a trans-Atlantic passage.

Attorneys for Mrs. Nelson read into the record messages found in a bottle cast up on one of the Orkney islands in 1917. These messages, written by men of the crew, said the vessel was foundering in a gale and made no mention of German mines or submarines. The Frederick's owners later contended that the vessel had been the victim of one of these destructive agencies.

NAVY DISASTERS KILL 87 IN YEAR

Two Explosions, Crash and Honda Point Tragedy
Within Few Months

Washington, Oct. 29.—The explosion on the scout cruiser Trenton Oct. 20, off the Virginia coast, and the loss of at least 13 lives recalls similar disasters in the Navy during the past 12 months. There has been a total loss of 87 men in that period in two instances as a result of big gun explosions when crews were at target practice, and as a result of one collision and stranding of seven destroyers at Honda Point, off the coast of California.

The loss of life on the Trenton did not equal the toll on the battleship Mississippi the morning of June 12 this year when 45 lives were lost and nine men injured by a big gun explosion during target practice off San Diego.

Prior to this, in the last 20 years, the major powder explosions on vessels of the United States navy were four in number. The greatest loss of life occurred April 13, 1904, when a turret explosion on the battleship Missouri, at Guantanamo, Cuba, cost 31 lives. Two years later to a day, April 13, 1906, a similar explosion on the Keary, in the Caribbean Sea resulted in six killed.

A turret explosion on the Georgia, off Cape Cod July 15, 1907, took a toll of nine lives and the blowing out of a breech block of a six-inch gun on the cruiser Charleston, on March 23, 1910, resulted in eight fatalities.

Premature explosions on ships of the United States navy are guarded against, but they appear to occur at intervals. Courts of inquiry into the explosion on the Mississippi were of the opinion that the casualty was due to "foul bore," consequent to insufficient air pressure, the gun not having been properly cleared of gas before loading. The gun being fired into the wind probably made the expulsion of gases more difficult.

There were two turret explosions on the Mississippi, the second following the major explosion by about four hours, but there were no fatalities and only 19 injured in this blast. Both guns were in the same turret and these men appear to have been injured while standing outside the turret.

As described by eye-witnesses the main casualty occurred as follows:

The seventh salvo had been fired, guns returned to loading position, and the turret opened. There appeared to be some trouble with air pressure, although it was not very clear just what, except that the gun captain was heard to make some remarks about the air pressure. The turret captain picked up a wrench and said he would fix it.

The shell was rammed home, four bags of powder were placed on the gun and the rammer was withdrawn. Whereupon there emerged from the breech of the gun a small grayish ball like a hammer head, five of smoke and flame followed by a large flash of flame.

FRECKLES AND HIS FRIENDS.

New Use For Glasses

Plume and gases immediately filled the gun compartment, passed through the safety doors above the shell table to the other two gun compartments and through the peep-doors to the turret officers booth. Death occurred as the result of asphyxiation.

The outstanding disaster of 1923 and of many years, was the loss of seven destroyers on the coast of California, at Honda Point. This occurred Sept. 8, a little more than a year ago. This disaster cost the navy 23 lives, and shipping to the value of $12,000,000.

In the opinion of the court of inquiry, the disaster was in the first instance directly attributable to bad errors of judgment and faulty navigation on the part of three officers. After the destroyers struck at Honda Point, there was no incident to mar the perfect conduct of the personnel, according to Secretary of the Navy Denby, who briefly referred to the disaster in his annual report to Congress. Discipline, self-sacrifice and courage characterized all officers and men, and as a result, the loss of life was greatly minimized.

At 6 a. m. Oct. 23, the O-5, while proceeding up the channel of Limon Bay for the purpose of crossing the Panama Canal collided on the starboard side amidships with the bow of the steamer Abangarez, then proceeding to Cristobal docks. The O-5 sank almost immediately on the eastern side of the channel in seven fathoms of water. All the men below escaped except two who took refuge in the torpedo room, the remainder of the boat being flooded.

Of the men on deck three were drowned when the boat sank and others were rescued by vessels in the vicinity. The services of the canal floating crane was secured and at 1 o'clock, seven hours after the collision, the bow of the submarine was raised above the water and the men in the torpedo room rescued, uninjured and in good condition.

OFFICER FACES LIQUOR CHARGE

Man Arrested at York Beach
Has Hearing at Gloucester

Gloucester, Oct. 29.—The municipal council chamber was filled to capacity yesterday afternoon at the hearing of charges against Patrolman Thomas Powers. Powers was one of the party who was arrested in an automobile at York Beach, July 7, when a load of liquor had been landed, it is said, for a summer hotel in that locality.

Recently, in the Federal Court in Portland, all the alleged offenders except Powers were fined and imprisoned or fined. Those imprisoned now are at Atlanta Penitentiary, serving a year's sentence. Powers claims that he went on the trip in a car with no knowledge that the party were interested in rum running activities. He pleaded not guilty and the case against him was not pressed.

William J. Hatch and Sylvester Whalen, council for Powers, objected to introducing any testimony concerning the York Beach affair, claiming that Powers was absolved and that it was a closed incident. Mayor MacInnis, who presided admitted the testimony.

Somewhat of a sensation was caused when City Solicitor Cunningham called Patrolman Joseph H. Wilson to the stand. It was testified that Wilson, who is president of the Police Relief Association, wrote a letter to Prohibition Agent Strout, in which he stated that he had heard Powers obstructed the Federal officers in the discharge of their duty. Wilson said he wrote the letter only as a joke, and he knew nothing of the alleged occurrence except what he had heard. The letter was not read in its entirety. Counsel for Powers objected vigorously to any "hearsay" evidence.

The hearing then was adjourned to next week.

A meeting of the Red Cross to arrange for the annual roll call will be held in the nurse's office at the public library Wednesday, Nov. 5, at 2 p. m. The regular meeting of the Nursing association will be held at 1.30 p. m. in the nurse's office the same day.

Every man and woman in the United States who can afford to pay $1 a year ought to be enrolled in the Red Cross. This is an ideal not likely to be realized, however great the zeal and earnestness of the workers who are enlisted in the annual roll call, which takes place during the coming weeks. Last year our enrollment was but 338 out of all the citizens of this town. Let us try this year and make it 600 or more. For one-half of every membership dollar you give remains right here in Kittery and helps out the nursing service, so you can readily see that you only let us have $1.00 to help keep up the nursing service which, service everyone knows is something the town has as protection, the same as the fire department. If you help us out in the roll call we will not have to look to the town for so much in order to carry on this work. The other half of your dollar goes to Red Cross headquarters in Washington, to be distributed wherever floods, fires, disease or other disasters visit a town or a section of the country. The community gives generously to relieve distress and no worthy call goes unanswered, but like other communities, it lacks appreciation of the necessity for forehandedness to meet great emergencies. The usefulness of the Red Cross would be immeasurably increased if it were put in a position to respond instantly to the call for help and not be compelled, as in many instances, to await the comparatively slow loosening of the bonds of sympathy and the replenishment of its treasury. People ought not to be asked to join the Red Cross, they should ask to be allowed to join. The roll call will begin on Nov. 11, Armistice Day, and continue until Thanksgiving Day, two important dates which mean so much to every citizen of the United States, so for thankfulness be ready with your dollar when the solicitor calls and help the Red Cross and yourself. Mrs. George Gunnison has been elected chairman of the Kittery branch, A. R. C., to succeed Mrs. George Boulevar, who resigned a few weeks ago.

Some of the members of Kittery Grange went to Alfred today to take the fifth and sixth degrees. We're giving a Halloween party on next Thursday night.

Paris, Oct. 29.—The international financial conference, called to settle the distribution of reparations and to revise the costs of the Armies of Occupation, met last Monday with James A. Logan, Jr., American representative on the Reparations Commission.

The various delegations and experts outlined the work the first day, and the Finance Ministers met on Tuesday, since M. Clementel of France was at Lyons on Monday. M. Theunis will represent Belgium and Philip Snowden, Chancellor of the Exchequer, will act for Great Britain.

The Finance Ministers will meet somewhat of a shock when the American claims of about $500,000,000 are presented for participation in the distribution. In this total, American reparations claims figure about $300,000,000, the remainder of the total being the cost of the occupation by the American forces in Germany of part of the Rhineland. This occupational cost amounts to $250,000,000, of which one $100,000,000 instalment has already been paid.

The claims will be presented in accordance with the provisions introduced into the London agreement on the Dawes reparation plan by Mr. Logan and American Ambassador Kellogg, to the effect that the claims of the "Allied and Associated" Powers shall participate in the distribution of the proceeds of the Dawes plan.

This feature of the London accord appears to have passed unnoticed here and the French Government inscribed among its expected receipts for 1925, the full French quota of 52 percent of the amount Germany was expected to pay.

The contention of the Allies with regard to the payment of American reparation plans, it is anticipated, will be the same as that raised with reference to the expenses of the occupation of the Rhineland by the American forces in Germany, namely, that the American Government, not having ratified the Treaty of Versailles, ought to deal directly with Germany for reimbursement under its own individual treaty.

The American reply, it is supposed, will be that the Treaty of Versailles and the German-American treaty must both be considered as holding the same relation to the Dawes plan.

The agent-general for reparation payments will be unable to transfer cash from Germany during the first year of the operation of the Dawes plan, according to present prospects, hence the United States as well as the Allies if they collect anything during that period will have to take it in kind.

If the United States is not willing to accept goods in payment, then it will have to wait probably until the second year, which procedure would leave the entire sum payable by Germany in 1925 available for the Allies.

BETTER WIVES AND MOTHERS

The emancipation of women as evidenced by the evolution in dress from steel stays that made a twenty inch waist and the long street sweeping skirts to the sports clothes of the present day has certainly had its effect upon the health of women. With proper attention to diet and exercise a race of better wives and mothers is assured by it. If, however, ailments develop as evidenced by irregularities, backache, headaches, nervousness and irritability, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound may be depended upon to overcome them. Thousands of women testify to its success.

Five years ago the steamship J. L. Luckenbach lost her anchor and part of the chain at a Philadelphia pier and the captain went to an expense of several hundred dollars in an unsuccessful attempt to recover it. Just lately the crew started to hoist anchor at the same pier and up with it from Davy Jones' locker came the lost anchor and remnant of chain without a cent of expense.

Jury Trials in Contempt Cases

Labor has won a notable victory in the recent decision of the United States supreme court holding that courts cannot refuse jury trials in contempt cases arising from labor disputes. The decision upholds a controverted clause of the Clayton act, by declaring that the requirement of a jury trial in certain specified instances is constitutional.

This makes a breach in the wall formerly separating criminal contempt from other criminal cases. It is, in a way, an answer to the contentions of labor leaders that judges have wielded oppressive power, especially in cases connected with strikes and injunctions, unjustly depriving citizens of their liberty. This class of cases has been one of the strongest factors in arraying so many labor leaders against the judiciary. When a citizen accused of violating an injunction is allowed a trial by a jury of his peers, as he would be if accused of any other crime, with the presumption of his innocence until he is proved guilty, he can no longer raise the cry of "judicial tyranny."

This decision, therefore, while curbing to some extent the power of judges, may really benefit the judiciary by allaying public criticism of its procedure. Thus, what was originally intended by many as a radical blow at the courts, upheld now by the highest court, may help to reduce radicalism.

Once started in curbing absolute power to punish for contempt, congress may go much further than it did in the Clayton act.

It is a question how far this tendency can go, without undermining the authority of the courts so that judicial decisions lose their effectiveness. It would hardly do to put all contempt cases in the hands of juries.

Navy Day

The celebration of Navy Day on Monday, October 27, was a national affair and served to bring before the people of the country the peace time, as well as the war time needs and duties of the sea forces of the nation.

Navy Day lessons, like that taught by Mobilization Day, serve to impress upon the rank and file of America the necessity of strong sea forces. In times of peace the uses of the navy are quite as important as in times of struggle. America's merchant marine is growing. Her markets are found in every port of this world. In this connection it is the fleet which paves the way for free and uninterrupted intercourse, which assures the merchant fleet that it has its constant protection.

As rumors of wars in distant lands American battleships turn their prows to the trouble-ridden seas. American nationals must be protected. In the burning of Smurna innocent women and children, victims of the torch and sword, needed the assistance which only the United States could give. In the Chinese revolution it was American battleships that patrolled the harbors and rivers and kept constant reminder of the fact that the nation is not forgetful of its people overseas.

The navy has a use as great as its use in war. It is the one branch of the military that America should not permit to disintegrate or dwindle to nothingness. It is, as Navy Day brought out, a potent force for the good.

The Election on November 4

It appears clearly evident that the American people will continue Calvin Coolidge as President of the United States; a man who has proven his worth as a leader, a statesman, a thinker and a worker, ever since he was first honored by the people by election to public office. That the seed of LaFolletteism shall not take root in this country is evidenced by the fact that only in spots where the Russian Soviet representatives have stirred up some of their own people and in the state of Wisconsin where LaFolletteism has been confined is there the least show of strength.

In our own state that able, fearless soldier, Capt. John G. Winant, and our distinguished senator, Henry W. Keyes, who has proven his worth, a man who has such a fine record as governor and in the United States Senate, will be returned by an overwhelming majority, while the First Congressional district will be regained in the election of Fletcher Hale.

De Valera Arrested

Eamon De Valera, the Irish republican leader, has broken into jail again. He did it deliberately this time. Warned by the Ulster government that he would be arrested if he set foot on certain Ulster territory, he went openly to Newry to address a political gathering. When he appeared at the town hall the authorities kept their word.

Here, as usual, DeValera challenges admiration for his independence and courage, but not particularly for his judgment. He held out for an Irish republic, against the Irish Free State, long after his opponent had ceased to serve any useful purpose, and against the manifest will of a big majority of his fellow countrymen. Now he invites a quarrel with Ulster, at a time when it is particularly the interest of the Irish nation to cultivate friendly tolerance between North and South Ireland.

BOAT UPSETS,
TWO BOYS DIE

Cling to Upturned Craft in River For Over Two Hours

(By Associated Press)
Providence, R. I., Oct. 29.—George E. Whitman, 7 of 56 Noyes at Phillipsdale, died from exposure and William Bouchard of 56 Noyes Ave., that town, was drowned last night, when they, together with the Whitman boy's father, Charles E. Whitman, were thrown into the waters of the Seekonk river opposite Phillipsdale, when their boat was filled with water and capsized.

The three were carrying wood from Buckings Island. The weight of the wood caused the boat to spring a leak about 200 yards from the Phillipsdale shore. The craft was turned bottom up, and young Whitman was hoisted on top. The trio clung to the boat for more than two hours, continually calling for help, but their cries were not heard.

Bouchard, astride a log, struck out for the island, leaving Whitman and his son to paddle their way back to the Phillipsdale shore. When Whitman finally reached shore about midnight, he collapsed, but soon revived. When he reached the side of his boy on top of the upturned boat, he found that he was dead.

Bouchard's body was recovered from the river by the East Providence police.

INDOOR PICNIC

Ladies P. M. Club Entertained at Home of Mrs. Mason

The Ladies P. M. Club held an indoor picnic on Tuesday at the home of Mrs. Daniel Mason on Middle street. The members came in the forenoon and brought box lunches as for an outdoor gathering, as the club had had no picnic the past summer. Dinner was served at 1 o'clock, a fish chowder adding to the menu of the occasion. In the afternoon a business session was held and the remainder of the time was passed in sociability. Eleven members were present and all much appreciated the efforts of the hostess which made the gathering so pleasant.

Oxford, N. A bullet hole has been discovered in a window of the Thomas home. The direction of the bullet in passing through the glass has not yet been established. The woman's husband, Frank Thomas, is held without bail as a material witness.

PLEDGES PEACE AND ECONOMY

(By Associated Press)
Washington, Oct. 29.—President Coolidge assured a group of advertisers who called at the White House today to pledge their support, that he proposed to maintain an administration devoted to economy, peace and prosperity. "This government is a great business institution," the President said, "but it is a great humanitarian institution with an interest in the well-being of all the people." The advertisers, members of the Coolidge-Dawes Advertisers League, called at the White House for breakfast with President and Mrs. Coolidge.

DEMOCRATS HOLD
LARGE ATTENDANCE

stated. He said that Congress was the last thing in the world that he would want to see made supreme for "I know Congress. We have an impression that Congress is the custodian of wisdom and ability, but it is rather the custodian of wind. The Democrats gave the country its greatest gift in the bill of rights in the constitution and it is this bill of rights that must be cherished and preserved against this same constitution gives the electors the right to vote for whom they will. Party usage makes it necessary that they vote for their candidates, but as a matter of fact the electors from the various states can gather in Washington and elect anybody they agree upon for President and Vice President, if there is no choice. "I advocate," said Mr. Marshall, "that they elect John W. Davis for President and Calvin Coolidge for Vice President, for he was born for that job."

He said that the bill of rights gives everybody the right to their own religious belief, saying, "I have a supreme contempt for the man who sleeps on a mattress so that he can use his bed sheet to tell people what he thinks." He paid his respects to the reformers and uplifters whom he said he had no use for, for he always noted that they charged so much per uplift. "The country needs not reformation but regeneration," said Mr. Marshall, but he has confidence in the integrity of the great mass of the people.

Governor Fred H. Brown was given a good reception when he appeared on the stage. He devoted his time entirely to the state issues. He laid great stress on the saying that has been made during his administration and the fact that there was no current debt, but a surplus of over $700,000 in the state treasury. He said the Republicans were making the claim that this was made possible through the work of the previous administration and were unwilling to give any credit to his administration.

He spoke at length on the 48-hour law which he claimed the Republicans would not pass, after once vetoing the bill as passed by the Democratic House of two years ago. He also spoke strongly in favor of the repeal of the poll tax for women, maintaining that it was an unjust hardship on the mass of people in the state. The state, he said, was in the best financial condition for 50 years and he quoted the difference in the state tax that Portsmouth paid last year and what they paid this year. He closed with an eloquent appeal for the state and painted a pathetic picture of the abandoned farms, closed schools and churches that exist all over the state and made an appeal for a return to the virtues of our forefathers and more home life, with greater respect on the part of all for existing laws.

The latter part of his talk, which was devoid of politics, was the most eloquent he has ever made in this city. The rally was opened by George Smallwood, chairman of the Democratic committee, who introduced ex-Mayor D. W. Badger as the chairman. The first speaker was Samuel W. Emery, candidate for county solicitor for this county, who made an appeal for the support of the voters on the ground that he had had far more experience than the Republican candidate.

Congressman William N. Rogers made his usual forceful talk, devoting most of his time to state issues and eulogizing Governor Brown and former President Woodrow Wilson. R. B. Chase of Wolfeboro, candidate for the state Senate from the fourth district, held the stage for some time with a talk devoted mostly to national issues, and George E. Farrand, candidate for the United States Senate, made but brief remarks, giving way to Mr. Marshall.

The Portsmouth City band assisted and headed the red light parade from the Rockingham hotel to the theatre. The marriage of Henry Ayers formerly of this city, and Miss Sara Showaker of Philadelphia occurred today in that city. Mr. Ayers, who was the son of the late Mark W. Ayers, for many years assistant postmaster at the local post office, left here a number of years ago, and is now engaged as a bacteriologist in New York city. He is a graduate of

BAXTER WANTS
GERMAN WAR RELICS
IN NEW PARKS

Washington, Oct. 24.—No one of the forty-eight governors of the Union is so devoted to Percival P. Baxter of Maine, who opposed Defense Day, and who so far as his support of pacifism is concerned has the virtue of consistency, in his desire that the people of his state shall be given, as expeditiously as possible, their share of the German war trophies captured by the Americans in France. No one of his fellow governors has displayed greater anxiety than the chief executive of Maine that the machine guns, cannon, rifles and other articles of war once used by the Kaiser's armies, and now allotted to his state by Congress shall be sent there as fast as the railroads can convey them. Though these implements can hardly fail to remind the citizens of Maine of the World War, Governor Baxter, nevertheless has notified Secretary Weeks that Maine will accept all the war trophies allotted to it under the War Department's distribution plan, and he goes on to say "that if Maine could secure these trophies at once I would see that the freight on them was paid by the state."

Governor Baxter will go out of office in January. Naturally the questions arise: Why does he so earnestly desire that these implements of war be sent to Maine forthwith, and how is he so certain that the state will foot the bill? Why this eagerness to take possession of these things that tell the story of the clash of rival armies?

When Congress authorized the distribution of these war trophies, it failed to appropriate money to cover the freight rates on their distribution to the various states. Hence whether intentional or not, the effect of this oversight is the same.

Inquiry was made by the War Department of the various governors to find out their wishes in the matter. The cases of two other pacifist governors are also of some interest. No answer has been received so far from Governor Bryan of Nebraska. Governor Blaine of Wisconsin turned the matter over to the adjutant general of his Commonwealth.

The writer is informed that the pressure of the veteran and patriotic organizations in La Follette's state was so strong that the governor, though he had no interest in the matter himself, was forced to take the action that he did and referred the matter to the adjutant general, who by all accounts is sound in his Americanism.

At the present time there are two hundred cartons of enemy war material awaiting distribution. Though this has no market value, its original cost was upwards of $150,000,000. Connecticut and Massachusetts have been heard from.

As to Connecticut Governor Templeton will superintend the distribution. Governor Cox of Massachusetts has asked the adjutant general to take charge of the details of getting the Bay State's share to Boston. Favorable action on the War Department's request is expected soon from the other New England states.

The question, of course, is one of freight rates. The Eastern states would not have to pay so much for transportation charges but states in the far West and in the Middle West would have a larger bill to pay than, for example, New York, New Jersey and Connecticut.

Massachusetts' share of these trophies is large enough, being based on the number of Bay State men in the service to assure that every town will get some implement of war. There are, for example, 2936 bayonets, 546 helmets and nearly 400 machine guns in the allotment.

NAVAL OFFICERS TO TEST RULINGS

Washington, Oct. 24.—Officers of the navy who have disagreed with Comptroller General McCarr's rulings which withheld from them allowances for heat, light, and quarters for dependents went into court here to test Mr. McCarr's powers. In the same action the plaintiff seeks to force the navy disbursing officers amounts alleged to be due.

The suit, filed in the District of Columbia Supreme Court, is for an injunction to prevent further alleged obstruction on the part of Secretary Wilbur. Lieut. Benjamin L. Lankford, disbursing officer, and Mr. McCarr in the effort of Commander John F. Cox to recover allowances alleged to be due him. Justice Hoehling issued a show cause order requiring the three officials named to file answer Oct. 31.

The controversy resulting from Mr. McCarr's ruling made last March 15, is thus thrown into open court and, for the first time, the powers of the Comptroller General, as defined in the budget and accounting act, are subjected to judicial appraisal.

Mr. McCarr's rulings have been attacked in a number of instances heretofore, some of the cases having been placed by Cabinet officials before the Attorney General for an opinion. In one case Atty. Gen. Daugherty ruled that the Comptroller General's action in announcing that he would refuse to approve vouchers issued by the Civil Service Commission contrary to his ruling was without basis in law, but officials of the commission have made no further move.

More than 100 naval officers are supporting the action brought to test the ruling in the present case after failure of attempts to have it rescinded.

Mr. McCarr said he had not been served with notice of the court action but that he felt his interpretation of the law was correct and would be upheld by the court.

FINAL TRIBUTE TO DR. J. L. WILLIS

No finer tribute was ever paid to the memory of any citizen of York County, Maine, or in fact in any town than was paid to the late Dr. J. L. M. Willis on Tuesday afternoon when his remains were carried to their final resting place.

Friends, neighbors, relatives, taxed the capacity of the home and the floral offerings filled one of the largest national church, conducted the service at the grave. The funeral procession moved in a long column of autos to the cemetery. The home contained delegations from the various societies of which the deceased was a member and practically every member of the Portsmouth Medical Society and the members of the York rooms; they bore mute testimony of the love and high esteem in which he was held. The pieces were most beautiful and, were without question the most artistic in design and size that have been laid at the casket of any one in this section.

Former pastor Rev. Dr. Dr. V. Conkan paid a tribute in words to his memory that expressed the thoughts of all present while Rev. George W. M. Keyes, present pastor of the Congre-

County Society were present.

The honorary bearers were Dr. H. L. Durgin, Eliot, Dr. William Hale, Dr. Thomas W. Luce, Portsmouth, Dr. Herbert L. Taylor, Portsmouth, Dr. E. D. Jaques, South Berwick.

The active bearers were Fred Shapleigh, Clarence Plaisted, Maynard Douglas, Edgar Hammond. Interment was in Mt. Pleasant cemetery under the direction of J. Verne Wood.

DEATH CALLS A FORMER RESIDENT

James K. Boyle, Former Master Mechanic at Navy Yard Dies in Saugus

Word was received here this morning of the death of James Boyle formerly of this city who passed away suddenly at his home in Saugus, Mass. Mr. Boyle was for a number of years employed in the Portsmouth navy yard as master joiner. He was placed on the retired list on Sept. 30, 1921 and retained his residence in Portsmouth until about a year ago. He was appointed a quartermaster in charge on April 15, 1901 and made master mechanic on March 29, 1916. Previous to entering the employ of the government he conducted a cabinet shop in Somerville. He was an expert at his trade and some of the best furniture on the battleships of the navy and other craft was built in the Portsmouth yard under his supervision. He was a man of very genial disposition and a good citizen. Mr. Boyle was a native of Ireland and 75 years of age. He is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Mabel A. Bell and Irene M. Boyle and a son Patrick H. Boyle.

The funeral will take place on Friday morning.

NAVY MAN WANTED TO VOTE BY MAIL

Must Come Home to Portsmouth to Cast His Ballot

A navy officer who makes his home in this city has made a request to the Secretary of State E. K. Sawyer for the privilege of voting on Tuesday next by mail.

At first thought the Secretary was of the opinion that under the soldier voting law, passed during the war and as yet unrecalled, he could accommodate the man. After studying the statute, however, Mr. Sawyer found that the law specifies that there must be a group of at least 25 soldiers at a given point in order to vote. He found further that a group of three commissioners should be appointed in that case to go to the group and supervise their voting. The secretary was forced to rule that the naval officer would have to come home—if he votes in New Hampshire.

He offered many suggestions of interest to the young people who were present, and closed his address with a few words, concerning the great privilege which belongs to all people in this country—the privilege of voting, and he urged the women, especially, to do their duty to themselves and to their fellowmen by voting.

BAN HUNTING IN STATE FORESTS

Step Taken Owing to Danger of Fire Through Long Dry Spell

Concord, Oct. 28.—Hunting activities in New Hampshire forests, with the exception of those in Coos county, were banned by an order issued yesterday afternoon from the office of State Forester John H. Foster, and bearing the signature of Gov. Fred H. Brown.

Forests in nine of the 10 counties of the state are closed to all persons except owners and their agents. Until there is an improvement in the present menacing conditions.

Mr. Foster said that a ban has often brought ruin in its train and should it do so this time the whole forestry force would breathe a sigh of prayerful relief. The situation at present, he went on, is the worst he has even known. The woods have literally been overrun with hunters, campers and other pleasure seekers, and this at a time when the forests are so dry that a tiny spark might start a bad fire.

exhibited in the Field Museum here. The water was obtained in South America by O. C. Farrington, head of the Museum's department of geology, who found it imprisoned in crystal quartz taken from rock formations at Bon Jesus Dos Meiras, Bahia, Brazil. The estimate of its age was based on the fact that the rock formations were of the Archean Age, asserted by the scientists to have existed 550,000,000 years ago. The water is clear and sparkling in its crystal container.

Hampton Falls, Oct. 29.—Winsor Datchelder, of Chicago, and his fiancée, Miss Charlotte DuBois of Springfield, Ill., after a pleasant vacation spent with Mr. Datchelder's parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. E. The harvest supper at the Baptist vestry last week was very successful. The North School Neighborhood club and the grange are planning to hold harvest suppers in the near future.

Rev. Chester Hyde of Sheltonville, Mass., has accepted the call to the pastorate of the local Baptist church. Mr. Hyde is a graduate of the University of Pennsylvania and of the Newton Theological Seminary. Both Mr. and Mrs. Hyde have served as missionaries in Africa and bring to their new field a wealth of experience. The church is to be congratulated on securing the services of a man of such outstanding ability as Mr. Hyde. He will begin his pastorate here about Nov. 1.

It had been planned for the audience of a Republican rally at White Plains, N. Y., to file out of the theatre and fall in behind the band for a parade. Just as the band emerged, a Democratic parade, minus music, came out of a side street and fell into line, with their pictures of Davis and Smith and oil cans. The parade had been in progress half an hour before the band leader became aware of his mistake.

Record Of Dawes' Life Is Most Impressive In History, Former Instructor In Latin Declares

An estimate of any man from the impression he created as a young man is interesting after that man has risen high in the world. Here is just such an estimate, made by Professor J. H. Chamberlin, of Marietta, College, who was one of Charles G. Dawes' instructors for three years. The General was not yet twenty when he graduated from college.

"In all my reading of history, I have never encountered the story of a man who has impressed me as has Charles G. Dawes," Professor Chamberlin, who is shown above with his former pupil, says. "He was one of my Latin students. I do not recall anything particularly startling about his course with me, except that he was a fine student, a gentleman, and a boy I would naturally remember because of his manliness and innate splendid qualities."

"He took part in all college activities, was a member of several societies, an honor man at graduation, liked athletics, and was a leader. I never knew whether he was studying as hard as he could have studied or not, because his was the kind of mind that grasps things readily, and whether he tried his best or not, he seemed to be in the lead."

"He is not and was not a specialist—yet he could specialize in anything. In other words, he could become an expert in anything. He showed the faculty of seeing into a problem when he was a student here, and he has developed that to a degree, I think, unsurpassed by any man in all known history. Of all men, I believe that Charles G. Dawes was born to accomplish great things. He has already accomplished more than nearly any man alive."

Even allowing for a little enthusiasm on the part of Prof. Chamberlin, it must be admitted that Gen. Dawes has gone far, and seems to be headed for still greater things.

FIGHT AGAINST T. B.

COSTS $84,745.69

According to figures just announced at the state headquarters, a total of $84,745.69 has been spent in tuberculosis work in New Hampshire so far this year. The largest single expenditure was for housing service, including case finding, investigations, home visiting for supervision and health educational programs. The salaries and expenses amounted to $19,628.02. For clinics including medicines, drugs and other necessary relief, $2,393.59 was spent.

A total of $3,250.00 went for administration, salaries, stationery, postage, office supplies, rent, telephone and incidentals. The educational program, bulletins, pamphlets, literature, exhibits, modern health crusades and supplies cost $2,078.85. Travel on administrative work, investigations, survey, etc., cost $1,523.03.

The total is brought to the $84,745.69 figure by the cost of the Christmas Seal sale and the five per cent of the receipts which goes to the national association.

The state association has a balance of $4,374.50 in the bank to carry on the work until after Christmas when the receipts from the seal sale come in.

NEW HAMPSHIRE TO HAVE A BOOSTING WEEK

Manchester, Oct. 28.—A "New Hampshire Week" was proposed by Rowland B. Jacobs of Lebanon, president of the New Hampshire Manufacturers' association, at the annual meeting of the association yesterday at the Carpenter as the best means of giving publicity to the manufactured products and advantages of the Granite State and to be urged that steps be taken to organize the people for the celebration of such a week.

Mr. Jacobs said that the success of the recent "New England Week" and of various other local demonstrations of this character in all parts of the country, shows that much can be accomplished by setting aside a particular week in each year.

He recommended that "New Hampshire Week" would give opportunity not only to interest the entire nation in what is being produced in this state, but to arouse the inhabitants of New Hampshire to the value of their own efforts and activities. The suggestion was favorably received by the large company of prominent manufacturers who were present.

It was voted to appoint a committee to investigate the 48-hour situation and present the findings to the people of New Hampshire.

Officers elected were: R. H. Jacobs of Lebanon, president; George C. Carter of Manchester, secretary and treasurer; Mayor E. D. Sargent of Nashua, D. D. Tuttle of Milford and E. B. Pike of Pike, vice presidents; ex-Gov. W. H. Spaulding of Rochester, Harvey Kent of Exeter, J. H. Rice of Manchester, W. L. Carter of Nashua and H. A. Peart of Keene, executive committee.

PRESIDENT TO DECIDE AS TO NORTH POLE TRIP

Washington, Oct. 29.—A study of the flight of the Shenandoah to the west coast and return is expected by President Coolidge to furnish information upon which may be based a final decision as to a flight by the air cruiser to the North Pole.

The President has been told that the Shenandoah's flight was in every way comparable with that of the ZR-3 across the Atlantic. It is recalled that one of the important considerations which led to abandonment of the North Pole project last year was a hesitancy to risk the only ship of the Zeppelin type possessed by the American Government. With two such craft in operation, that consideration at least, has been removed.

In one of his works Rupert Brook, the poet, refers to "the benison of hot water." He appreciated its value as a healing, cleansing agent and as one of the necessities of life.

Abundant hot water running fresh from the faucets is one of humanity's blessings made available to all of us because of gas service and modern heating equipment. It is a dependable, economical service assuring you of hot water on tap at all hours.

Heating water by the tea kettle method is drudgery. It is also costly. Furthermore, you are wasting money if you believe that an extra coil in a furnace or stove heats your water for nothing. Discard such practices and let us show you the gas way of heating water. All information gladly furnished.

INCOME TAX LISTS NOW OPEN TO THE PUBLIC

In a statement made public by John H. Field, collector of Internal Revenue, announcement is made that he has received detailed instructions from the commissioner of Internal Revenue in regard to the preparation of lists of taxpayers for public inspection.

The revenue act which was approved on June 2, 1924, provides that there shall be prepared and made available to public inspection in the office of the collector in each internal revenue district, lists containing the name and postoffice address of each person filing an income tax return in such district. The law also provides that the amount of income tax paid by each person shall be shown.

The collector explained that the Bureau of Internal Revenue interprets this provision of the act as applying to all returns of income made after Jan. 1, 1924, whether filed under the provisions of the Revenue Act of 1924 or prior income tax acts. The collector further explained that the term "person" means an individual, a trust or estate, a partnership or a corporation.

It was stated that the lists required by the new revenue law are now available for inspection in the collector's office and that the collector has designated one of his employees to assist all persons making inquiry to obtain the information to which they are entitled by virtue of the new revenue law.

The lists which will be open to the public are the official assessment lists and they will show a complete history of each person's transactions with the government in regard to his income tax matters. The name and postoffice address will appear on the lists as well as the amount of tax paid on all original and additional assessments, also

Correct Clothes To Meet The Obligation Of Every Occasion

Copyright 1924 by C. E. Wey

Evening Neckdress

Granted that most Americans do not look with favor upon formal evening dress, popularly termed "full dress," the unobdurate fact remains that there are certain occasions when nothing else may be correctly worn. For example, the man who is married at an evening in a Tuxedo suit shows complete ignorance of or indifference to a rule of good form which is recognized and observed the world wide by men who know what's what and what's not. Any ceremonious function after sundown, as distinguished from a semi-formal one, inflexibly prescribes "full dress," and you can't get away from it, even if you do get away with something else.

It is a matter of fact, there is a clearly defined tendency this season to return to the swallowtail or tuxedo suit for wear upon those occasions when it is obligatory. To be sure, the tuxedo has become our National Evening Suit and nine men out of ten prefer it. Nevertheless, truth crushed to earth shall rise again, no matter who sits upon its chest, and "full dress" has a place and a purpose in the theme of etiquette from which no consideration of comfort and no whim of the wearer can dislodge it.

Two types of correct collars and ties to accompany formal evening clothes are reproduced here. The top one is the poke collar, a form that is still much worn in England, but seldom seen in this country. It is a good style for certain necks and casts of features, but it is not the most comfortable of collars and, thus, its vogue will always be restricted to men who dress after the manner of the old school—not a bad school, either. The second is the wing collar, the universal favorite. This should have rather large, bold tabs set straight, rather than at an angle. It should, also, be of goodly height, as a low wing does not look well with evening dress. The ties are of two sorts—the butterfly bow having a tight knot and spreading, fan-shaped ends and the tie adjusted with a broad, straight effect.

PROBE MYSTERY FIRES AT SALEM

Salem, N. H., Oct. 28.—Forest fires and fires in three buildings in this town have kept the local fire department and continually the past few days.

The fires in the three buildings were of unknown origin and the total loss has not yet been figured. One cottage on Canobie lake, belonging to a Boston family who had closed it for the winter, was destroyed and almost at the same time the property of E. L. Feltch in North Salem was swept by flames. The house, barn and all outbuildings, as well as practically all the furnishings and farm equipment, were lost in the flames. It is understood one horse alone was saved.

No help was called from other places because the buildings in both instances were too far gone when the local apparatus responded.

The old Granite State distillery, long unoccupied, was burned to the ground a little later in the day. It is believed that police and fire officials here will investigate all three fires closely in an effort to fix the origin.

More than 200 acres of young wood, second growth stuff largely, was destroyed by the series of forest fires.

QUICK RELIEF FROM CONSTIPATION

Get Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

That is the joyful cry of thousands since Dr. Edwards produced Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel.

Dr. Edwards, a practicing physician for 17 years and calomel's old-time enemy, discovered the formula for Olive Tablets while treating patients for chronic constipation and torpid livers.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets do not contain calomel, but a healing, soothing vegetable laxative.

No gripping is the "keynote" of these little sugar-coated, olive-colored tablets. They cause the bowels and liver to act normally. They never force them to unnatural action.

If you have a "dark brown mouth," bad breath, a dull tired feeling, sick headache, torpid liver, constipation, you'll find quick, sure and pleasant results from one or two of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets at bedtime.

Thousands take them every night just to keep right. Try them. 15c and 30c.

penalty and interest payments. The collector stated that the opening of the assessment lists to the public may interfere to some extent with the work of his office. The additional duty also means the loss of at least a part of the services from his regular duties of the employees assigned to assist persons desiring to inspect the lists. The collector stated, however, that it is the desire of the Internal Revenue Service to afford every facility to persons seeking the information to which they are entitled and that he is prepared to co-operate with the public to the fullest possible extent.

The assessment lists are, of course, the basis for all the collector's book-keeping transactions and any additional information that might be compiled would have to be taken from these lists. The opening of the official assessment lists to the public eliminates all possibility of errors that might be made in transcribing the information and there can be no question whatsoever as to the authenticity of the information given to the public.

FIRST MEETING OF THE SEASON

The first meeting of the season of the James DeNormandie Chapter, Unitarian Laymen's League, was held Monday evening at the parish house on Court street with a large attendance. The meeting was presided by a supper served by Caterer Ben Tate with the executive board as hosts to the chapter.

At the business session the president, Lawrence G. Peyer, was in the chair and several items of business were transacted. It was voted to hold the observance of Laymen's Sunday this year, the date to be determined by the executive board. The plan of having two ushers from the Chapter serve every Sunday at church is working well under the direction of chief of staff Henry B. Tilton. In this way a large number of men are serving the church. The steady growth of the Sunday school was discussed and the co-operation of the laymen is still further strengthening it. The president, Lawrence G. Peyer, gave an interesting and stimulating report of the Niagara Falls convention of the Unitarian Laymen's League last September which he attended as a representative of the local society.

A committee was appointed, consisting of Rev. William Safford Jones, Dr. Willis D. Walker and Frederic M. Sise, to draw up fitting resolutions upon the death of Rev. James DeNormandie, D. D., for whom the Chapter was named. One new member, Albert J. Rowe, was admitted Monday evening. The next meeting of the Chapter will be held on Monday evening, Nov. 17.

JUDGE PROVIDES FOR LIBRARY AT CONCORD

Concord, Oct. 28.—In his will, Judge Charles R. Cornig, who died Oct. 19, made the city of Concord, of which he was Mayor from 1903 to 1909, his residuary legatee for the building of a new public library.

To the State of New Hampshire for its law library, Judge Cornig gave his collection of volumes on English, Scotch and American law and he left the biographical portion of his library to the County of Merrimack of which he was Judge of Probate at the time of his death. The remainder of his books, pictures and objects of art, with a fine collection of autographs, he gave to the New Hampshire Historical Society, of which he was president.

The only public bequest in cash was one of $500 to the Concord Charity Organization Society, of which Judge Cornig was president. Several private bequests from $500 to $3000 were made.

STONE ASKS FOUR U. S. ATTORNEYS TO QUIT

Washington, Oct. 28.—Four United States district attorneys have been asked to resign and six others have resigned since July as a result of failure, in most instances, to enforce the prohibition laws. Atty. Gen. Stone said in reference to charges of lax prohibition enforcement.

The statement was made by Stone in amplification of the letter of Mrs. Mabel Whitebrandt, assistant attorney general, made public recently, in which she said at least 10 district attorneys

ARREST MAINE POLICE CHIEF AS HI-JACKER

Claim Chief Brooks of South Portland Seized Liquor, Then Sold It

Portland, Me., Oct. 29.—Albert G. Brooks, chief of police of South Portland was arrested last night on two warrants charging him with conspiracy to violate the Volstead Act, extortion, and attempted bribery. His alleged activities as a member of a hi-jacking gang led to his arrest.

The chief is alleged to have been allied with a band of local rum dealers, and to have been a party to a scheme that called for delivery of alcohol to this gang by parties of rum runners working out of Massachusetts. When the alcohol was brought to the rendezvous agreed on, it is charged, the chief would seize it, and turn it over to the men alleged to be leagueed with him.

In some cases, according to authorities, seized liquor was sold back to the rum runners, together with their seized motor cars. In one instance according to investigators, an unsuccessful effort was made to seize the liquor for the second time, after it had been purchased back.

Indictments against the police head will be sought in Federal Court by Dist. Atty. Dyer, he said last night, and they will be asked for in the State Superior Court. Chief Brooks was taken to the county jail after his arrest and did not secure bail.

There are two indictments against him. One charges that he, in company with a convicted rum seller, Raymond G. Hames, conspired to sell rum to maintain a liquor nuisance in South Portland and to extort monies from persons accused of being rum dealers.

The second charges that Chief Brooks accepted a bribe of $400 from Agrippino Limoli of Boston for protection in the rum traffic. Limoli is under a manslaughter indictment here charging him with slaying Vincenzo Viola in Portland last June.

GOOD CAR NEEDS GOOD SERVICE

Satisfactory Performance Alone Not Sufficient to Win Owner's Complete Satisfaction

Dodge Brothers Perfect System Which Enables Customer to Know in Advance What Charges Will Be

Good performance alone does not imply that the owner is completely satisfied with his motor car, according to S. F. Hobbs, local Dodge Brothers dealer.

"It takes good service, in addition to the good performance, to win his complete and enthusiastic endorsement," he said.

He pointed out the fact that Dodge Brothers, while constantly improving the quality of their car and thus reducing the necessity for service, are at the same time giving the service question more and more attention as one of the fundamental issues in the volume production and sale of automobiles.

This month, for example, Dodge Brothers are advertising to the world, "You Know in Advance—Dodge Brothers dealers everywhere have a fixed charge for every service operation." It is perhaps the first time that a large manufacturer has given such general prominence to the subject of service.

"Dodge Brothers gave years of study to the development of a service plan that could be applied with equal fairness and efficiency to their entire organization of dealers," said Mr. Hobbs. "When this plan was finally evolved, it meant more years of intensive educational work in getting it established and in operation in the thousands of dealerships. Today they have arrived at the point where it can be truthfully said that any Dodge Brothers owner, anywhere, can learn in advance just what it will cost him for any work that his car may require. Guesswork and unpleasant surprises in service bills have been eliminated.

"The plan through which this enviable position was realized is known as the flat rate service. Others have advocated it but in no case has it been so universally adopted.

"I believe that this system has done more than was ever accomplished before to solidify and brighten the enthusiasm of Dodge Brothers motor car owners."

Mr. Hobbs explained that the flat rate system was not put into effect until tests had determined a reasonable time allowance for every conceivable service job. On the basis of these tests, maximum working periods were established and mechanics are now required to complete every job within the allotted time.

Thus the service superintendent is able to estimate within a few minutes how long it will take to finish a job. Basic charges are supplied by the factory with the basic time periods. While these charges are a variable, according to the overhead cost in each community, the difference is never great and

Frees Wife

Dr. Alfred Lawrence Hall-Quest, dean of the University of Pittsburgh, has divorced his wife so she might marry her "perfect love." The other man, according to dispatches, is Fred W. Hart of Cincinnati, whose wife obtained a divorce about the same time Dr. Hall-Quest received his.

the factory's maximum reasonable charge is never surpassed.

As a rule, mechanics are also paid by the job. They are allowed so much time for the operation and must do the work in a satisfactory manner or do it over without pay. This reduces waste of time and increases efficiency. The natural result to the owner is better work in shorter time and at lower cost.

Mr. Hobbs added that Dodge Brothers have never countenanced so-called free service. "It is now obvious to most people that free service must be paid for somehow by someone," he said. "The usual way is to add enough to the selling price of the car to cover the free service item. The injustice of that, however, is that you may never require more than a few dollars worth of service, while some other buyer needs ten or twenty times that amount and yet you both pay equally. Dodge Brothers owners pay only for what they themselves get—not for what someone else may need."

WILL ASSUME NEW POSITION ON SATURDAY

Charles A. Peabody leaves on Saturday to assume his new position as manager of the Silas Pierce & Co. branch at Brockton, Mass. His promotion was announced some days ago. While this means his departure from Portsmouth his friends are very glad of his advancement. Mr. and Mrs. Peabody came here five years ago, when he succeeded Frank E. Leavitt as manager of the branch here. Brockton gives Mr. Peabody a wider field, as that branch serves the territory for a number of miles around Brockton. As an active member of the Chamber of Commerce and other organizations he made hosts of friends. Roland Morris, who has been Mr. Peabody's assistant here, will assume his new duties as manager on Saturday. He is thoroughly acquainted with the trade and has a wide circle of acquaintances who will be pleased to learn of his promotion.

MUSICAL AT ASSEMBLY HALL

Fine Entertainment Opens Portsmouth Teachers Association Course

A high class musicale on Tuesday evening at High school assembly hall opened the season's entertainment course of the Portsmouth Teachers' Association and the audience was limited to the seating capacity of the hall. All were enthusiastic in their praise of the unusually fine program given by these gifted artists who were: Fritz Bruch, cellist; Miss Lucy Bruch, violinist, assisted by Lucille Brown, soprano; Pauline Thurston, reader and Harry Wilhelm, pianist.

The program of the Bruch Ensemble was of much variety and included cello and violin solos, well known double numbers by the same instruments unaccompanied, soprano-solos, instrumental trios, readings set to music, one of two of which were accompanied with violin and cello and piano.

Fritz Bruch, who received high honors abroad, has toured the principal musical centers of this country and his sister, Miss Lucy Bruch, have played together for years. Both were born in Germany and are descendants of a musical family. Mr. Bruch played unusual musical feeling and showed every evidence of mastery of that most difficult of instruments, the violin-cello, and was applauded again and again. The instrument he used was about 200 years old and valued at $5000. It was given him by his teacher, a noted musician. The violin used by Miss Bruch was a very fine old instrument, having been made in 1645.

One of the most remarkable numbers played by Miss Bruch was the Bird Song, a composition of exquisite delicacy, and rendered in a wonderful manner. At its close applause was hearty and prolonged.

Lucille Brown, soprano, rendered several vocal solos which delighted the large audience. She has a fine voice and attractive personality and added much to the program.

Harry Wilhelm, pianist and accompanist, was no stranger to the audience, having appeared here with the Russian Cathedral Sextette last season and when he appeared on the stage was given hearty applause. His renditions were brilliant and again gave evidence of his unusual skill.

Pauline Thurston displayed rare talent as a reader and gave delightful exquisite musical background.
